5. The 2 Company was responsible for seven blockhouses:

- a. Blatec, which had two 11-man groups. The leader of one group was Sergeant Milosh Antic, and the leader of the second group was Sergeant Gvozden Ilic. The 1 Platoon was responsible for this blockhouse.
- b. Golubac, which had 15 men led by Sergeant Kadija Kadic. The 1 Platoon was responsible for this blockhouse.
- c. Dudica, which had 14 men led by Sergeant Dragoljub Cikarevic. The 2 Platoon was responsible for this blockhouse.
- d. Dudica Koliba, which had 15 men led by Sergeant Dragoljub Ilic. The 2 Platoon was responsible for this blockhouse.
- e. Sharenka, which had 15 men led by a Sergeant known as Demo. The 2 Platoon was responsible for this blockhouse.
- f. Porta, which had 15 men. The 3 Platoon was responsible for this blockhouse.
- g. Jezero Kraljevic Marka, which had 15 men. The 3 Platoon was responsible for this blockhouse.

6. The headquarters of the 3 Company was in Konopiste. The Commanding Officer was Captain Milan Gakovic.

7. About 50 percent of the men of the 85 KNOJ Border Guard Battalion were members of, or candidates for membership in, the Communist Party. Seven of the 16 men in the headquarters of 2 Company were Communist Party members or candidates for membership. The remainder were anti-Communists.

8. After the escape of Mijo Horvat on 16 July 1951, KOS Second Lieutenant Mitar Vukobrad conducted an investigation along the border area and about 100 meters inside Greek territory. Vukobrad reportedly concluded that Horvat escaped to Greece voluntarily and that he had not been kidnapped by Greek border guards. Vukobrad told the men at the Dudica blockhouse that he would learn within ten days whether Horvat escaped to Greece or was seized.

9. On 17 July 1951 a meeting of all of the officers of the 85 KNOJ Battalion was held in Konopiste. At the meeting the officers discussed the reason for Horvat's escape and the countermeasures that should be taken. One of the decisions was to have Second Lieutenant Vukobrad hold meetings at each of the blockhouses. At the meetings Vukobrad told the men that if Horvat went to Greece voluntarily, he will be returned by the Greek authorities and he will be tried by a military court.

10. Following the meeting on 17 July, an order was given that all guard posts be manned by two men. This order was revoked after a few days.
